

Welcome Back for the Historic 35th Season of the PFVCC

The 2015-16 NFL Season Kicks Off on Thursday, September 10

Effective date: 2015-08-31

I am thrilled for the new season and the excitement that awaits us! 35 years! Wow! Congratulations, once again, are in order for CM. You had a hell of a ride at the end of the season, and earned the right to hoist the much coveted Winner's Trophy upon your mantle. That's assuming you have a fire place. If you don't, then you probably put it on a shelf, or coffee table. It doesn't matter! You earned it! And, you also earned 18 other PFVCC members who are eager to take it away from you. What's that you ask? You thought we only had 17 members in PFVCC? Well guess what: PFVCC is proud to announce two new members for the 35th Season: BC (Brian C. Sweeney) and NF (Nate Finalet). Welcome to the fold, gentlemen, and Godspeed.

On to important matters! While the NFL Preseason is nearly over, the 2015-16 NFL Regular Season kicks off on Thursday, September 10 as the Steelers make the trip to Foxborough to take on the deflating, er...defending, champ Patriots. Will Tom Brady play, or will he be stuck watching the game from the owner's box while Gisele combs his perfectly conditioned hair? Only time will tell (Go G-Men!). Make sure you mark your calendars to get that first pick in on Wednesday, September 9!

As of today, August 31, the Autopick System is officially open and you will have received an email from our President, JP, with instructions on paying dues in preparation for the new season. Here's to the first 35 seasons and to the next 35 seasons!

Happy Picking.
